

Adam Perry, MD is a geriatrician focused on scaling modern models of care for older adults with complex care needs. He is founder of Healthspan Partners, which is selected to administer the Medicare GUIDE Dementia program. He is Medical Director with the acute home-based care provider DispatchHealth.

He is a Board Member for the Florida Geriatric Society and Faculty with the Milken Alliance to Improve Dementia Care and the Center of Excellence for Telehealth and Aging. Previously he was a Fellow with the John A. Hartford Foundation Health and Aging Policy Program and Faculty with the Geriatric Emergency Department Collaborative.