

Leading the united effort to eliminate poverty by investing in our community

Your investment opportunity

It is our 50th year and we have a birthday wish... a community without poverty.

The financial impacts of poverty are simply not sustainable, and the social impacts are unacceptable. United Way of Charlotte County (UWCC) has a long history of addressing poverty through the support of more than 28 local partner agencies.

We are now embarking on an ambitious journey - one that further defines our focus and works toward a more collaborative, results-based approach to addressing poverty in Charlotte County. This means no longer managing the symptoms of poverty, but working towards a vision of ending it. Our new mission:

Leading the united effort to eliminate poverty by investing in our community.

+ 28%
On the edge of Poverty
= 40%
Unable to make ends meet every month

Consider this:

30%

of Florida households

and 40%

of Charlotte County households are walking a financial tightrope.

Our friends and neighbors are working hard, but falling short of what they need to consistently cover the basic costs of living.

Unable to save for the future, they are vulnerable to a single emergency that can push them into crisis and even poverty.

John and Maria are caring for their mother, Sue, who is oxygen dependent and has other severe medical issues.

The power bill increases as a result and they have fallen behind.

Both John and Maria were working and John has now lost his job, causing their power bill to get further behind.

Ann recently lost her husband to an unexpected illness. Her work hours were reduced to part time with no insurance.

She has two children in Charlotte County schools - Sam is a struggling reader and Ashley has been having bouts of crying during school as she grieves the loss of her father.

Poverty is a complicated issue...

it costs more to do nothing than to do something

Poverty means hardship and daily stress for seniors, families and their children - not enough money to go around, lack of education, job training, homelessness, mental illness, addictions, domestic challenges and more.

It also has serious economic implications. The whole community suffers when individuals and families have insufficient income.

- When children aren't ready for school, they add a burden to the educational system.
- When households can't afford preventative health care, they're more likely to place future burdens on the health care system, increasing the cost of insurance for all.
- When workers can't afford an emergency, let alone invest in their neighborhood, communities experience instability, higher taxes, or a decline in economic growth.

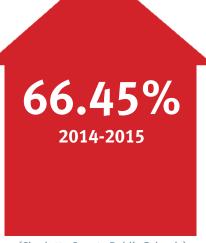

It is estimated that the costs to America associated with childhood poverty total $500 billion per year

The ROI - Return on our investment

A productive member of Charlotte County:

- supports local businesses.
- pays taxes that maintain neighborhoods and safe streets.
- pays their own rent or buys their own home.
- has children who are well fed, rested and able to learn.
- has educated teens who stay out of trouble and become self-sufficient leaders.
- receives timely health care making less visits to the emergency room.

Invest in a life – Invest in a community

Investments in quality childcare and early childhood education do more than pay significant returns to children—our future citizens. They also benefit taxpayers and enhance economic vitality. According to a report by the HighScope Educational Research Foundation, children who receive quality preschool education are significantly more likely to graduate from high school, secure long-term employment and become homeowners.

These individuals ultimately earned up to $2,000 more per month than those who did not enroll in early education programs, the study concluded. They are also less likely to use welfare assistance or end up in prison, saving taxpayers a fortune.

The Value of Volunteers

Harnessing the power of volunteers is made possible by funding programs that invest in our community – that invest in a life.

Community-Wide Approach

It will take a community-wide effort to make a real and sustained impact on poverty.

UWCC is working with a wide range of partners to close the gaps and find the right solutions.

To build a movement that has momentum, we need the community to join the conversation which will help shape the way forward. We need you!

During the next two years, United Way of Charlotte County will lay the groundwork for eliminating poverty through:

- investing in programs that address the root causes of poverty;
- learning more about people living in and on the cusp of poverty;
- community conversations with the public and key stakeholders;
- creating a shared vision and plan for human service providers, stakeholders and partners;
- expanding the free Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program;
- enhancing opportunities for community members to volunteer;
- and comprehensive approaches to grant administration and program sustainability.

Allocation of UWCC Community Impact funding

Who Decides? Each year, community volunteers vet the Partners Agencies that have applied for funding through interviews, scoring and onsite tours.

In addition to UWCC Community Impact funding, UWCC administers these funds as a service to the Charlotte County community and receives ZERO administrative fees to do so.
